CONTINUE THE GOOD WORK.

The question which most arises, since the five mill deal has been successfully closed, is what shall be done of the organization now known as the Chamber of Commerce. Some of the gentlemen who compose it want to stick with the idea that they would contribute their time in order to demonstrate what could be done, and if their efforts were successful they would then be free to join organizations which would take up and carry on their work. That Beaumont needs a strong commercial organization has been demonstrated many times since the Board of Trade ceased operations,
